CPNI Advice Campaign: Think before you link

Our colleagues within CPNI have produced further guidance in relation to protecting people that have access to valuable and sensitive information.

Criminals and hostile actors may act anonymously or dishonestly online in an attempt to connect with people who have access to valuable and sensitive information. They often do this by posing as recruiters or talent agents who will approach individuals with enticing opportunities, when their real intent is to gather as much information as possible from the target.

The consequences of engaging with these profiles can damage individual careers, as well as the interests of your organisation, and the interests of UK national security and prosperity.

The guidance documents designed by CPNI provide practical advice on how to identify them, how to respond, and how to minimise the risk of being targeted in the first instance.
